

Form CRS – Client Relationship Summary

Introduction

Janssen Partners Inc. (“Adviser”) is registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) as an investment adviser. Brokerage and investment advisory services and fees differ and it is important for you to understand these differences. There are free and simple tools available to research firms and financial professionals at www.investor.gov/CRS which also provides educational materials about investment advisers, broker-dealers and investing. In addition, you can use a free broker check here: <https://brokercheck.finra.org/firm/summary/43940>.

What types of investment services and advice can you provide me?

We offer opportunities to invest in private placements to retail and institutional investors. If you invest with us, we’ll meet with you to understand your current financial situation, goals, and risk tolerance. Based on what we learn, we may recommend investment opportunities from time to time.

Questions to Ask Us:

- Given my financial situation, should I invest in private placements? Why or why not? • How will you choose investments to recommend to me?
- What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education and other qualifications? What do those qualifications mean?

What fees and costs will I pay?

As an investor you will not pay any fees unless otherwise disclosed. Fees and costs are charged to the companies we raise capital for. Janssen Partners Inc. does not hold securities for its clients so there may be fees from the custodian or broker-dealer that holds your assets. We do not receive nor share in any portion of those custodial or transaction fees.

What are your legal obligations to me when offering investment opportunities? How does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When we offer private placement opportunities, we have a fiduciary duty to place the interest of our clients ahead of our own and the firm. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. The firm’s revenue is from the fees and compensation we collect from companies we are raising money for. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the investment advice we provide you. Peter K. Janssen also manages a fund that invests in cryptocurrency called First Block Capital which may raise funds through Janssen Partners. When investing through Janssen Partners Inc. into First Block Capital it is important to understand this conflict of interest.

Questions to Ask Us:

- How might your conflicts of interest affect me, and how will you address them?

How do your financial professionals make money?

Our financial professionals are paid a commission from funds raised for private placements.

Do you or your financial professionals have legal or disciplinary history?

Yes, our firm and/or financial professionals do have a legal and disciplinary history. Visit <https://brokercheck.finra.org/firm/summary/43940> for a free and simple search tool to research our firm and our financial professionals.
